The application site does not contain a listed building but is located within the Alton & Farley Conservation Area for which a character Appraisal has been prepared.
It states that Buildings in Alton village are diverse in character, date and spacing. This reflects the historic development of the settlement, the topography, and piecemeal construction by numerous owners in a variety of materials.
Hollington sandstone jostles handmade brick, and render sits adjacent to painted surfaces, masking a variety of phases and walling materials.
The proposed dwelling has a number of key design principles which are common place within the surrounding area including the use of gables, traditionally proportioned dormer windows, Stone headers and cills to windows, exposed rafter ends and complimentary materials comprising Staffordshire blue plain clay tiles and Ibstock Ivanhoe Cottage facing bricks and sash style timber windows.

Previous planning application ref. SMD/2017/0603 was discussed and planning permission granted for a very similar design.
The ridge height of the current proposal is the same as was granted planning with the roof pitch reduced by 2.5degrees to increase the first floor room height where the sloping ceiling following the rafter line meets the wall
