Re: Proctors Nursery, Leek Road, Endon – Hedge Statement

I have been asked by Barry Proctor to provide a brief statement with regards to the short section of hedge along the site frontage, my comments are as follows:-

The short section of hedge is approximately 30lms in length and is comprised of relatively young species of common hawthorn (crataegus monogyna), which would not fit the relevant criteria for any form of statutory protection (i.e. hedgerow regulations); additionally to this I was advised by the nursery / landowner that it was planted by himself approximately ten years ago.

There was no visible evidence of any protected species including nesting birds in the hedgerow at the time of my inspection and the proposed removal of this relatively short section would not be a major loss in terms of any visual amenity etc.

Yours Sincerely
