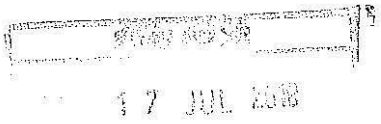
Staffordshire Moorlands District Council

Planning Department, Stockwell Street,

Leek. ST10 6HQ



Application No. SMD 2017/0810.

Submission No.SMD. 2016/0797.

Dear Sirs,

It beggars belief that the Planning department appear to have been brow beaten into this totally unnecessary instruction to clad a perfectly good and normally acceptable structure such as this replacement garage, which had hitherto been, in its tumbledown state, an accepted part of the village and because of the latter, it was replaced.

Planning permission was applied for, though this was later found not to have been necessary, but having erected a perfectly good structure to have an instruction from the Council, that it must be clad externally with wood. Does this mean that other similar structures in the village are therefore subject to the same instruction, I doubt very much that this would be the case and therefore one would think that the planning office should rethink the matter in question, bearing in mind that it is doubtful that there is a similar instruction anywhere in the County.

There are eyesores which the council choose to ignore and do nothing about, so why choose this particular property, a rethink on the above by the Planning Department is due and a return to common sense.

Yours Faithully.

M.G.ARDEN.
