Comments: To whomever,

having sat through all the planning meetings and spoken on this issue, I am flabbergasted that you are now having discussions to once again amened these plans.

The developer was fully aware when he submitted the orginal plans that eventually were past as to what he was entering into.

He was aware of the affordable housing allocation and was happy to have the plans passed.

Why is the planning department now advising him to resubmit these to get this allocation removed?

The plans should stand as they were originally passed with the affordable allocation exactly as it was or is there skulduggery afoot?
