To who it may concern.

I am writing to express my full support for the proposed planning application for a venue for weddings, conferences, and events at Fields Farm, Draycott Cross.

As a neighbouring farm, we feel well placed to comment on this application. We also run a successful kennels business and are therefore very familiar with managing noise, visitors, and the general day-to-day considerations that come with operating a business in a rural setting.

We can confirm that we have no concerns or dispute in relation to noise from the proposed development. In our experience, with responsible management, venues of this nature can operate harmoniously within the countryside.

We have also spoken directly with Martin and Fiona, the owners, and are more than happy with their plans. They have clearly taken a thoughtful and considered approach, and we are confident the venue will be run in a professional and respectful manner.

We believe this development would be a valuable addition to the local area. It will provide a beautiful setting for weddings and events, while also supporting the rural economy by bringing visitors who will use local services, accommodation, and businesses.

Furthermore, venues such as this often enhance the community by creating a positive and welcoming space for both private and business events.

Overall, we strongly support this application and believe it will be a positive and beneficial development for the area.

Yours faithfully,
Tony and Karen Buckle
