Comments: I frequently visit the area and have seen the transformation of the above property and might I say what a transformation the developers have done to bring the old Sunday school and Chapel back to life. The outdoor area for one of the apartments I think enhances the property and value of the overall development. I credit the builders for reusing the original features and materials where possible to replicate the original history of the beautiful town. The bridge feature allows a quiet reflecting seating area outside and I don't feel this is intrusive in any manner to any neighbouring properties. I cannot see any reason why this would be objected to have heard only praise regarding this property development.
