Comments: I have concerns with this planning application in the respect of water rights and supply. As the water is spring water which already supplies more properties than it was intended to supply.

This supply was only originally, supposed to supply Booths Hall, Booths, Hillhouse and Glenwood House, with the overflow of water to Riddings Farm. There has over the years been more development of Glenwood into more residential houses which have been joined onto the spring water supply. The consumption of water, which modern life requires, would go beyond the original requirement of a small farm. I would oppose to the planning application, unless the applicant can assure that the property will be supplied with mains water. Thus protecting the supply to the holdings that are and have always been reliant upon it.
