Comments: The Travellers Rest in Stanley is a well run pub in a pleasant moorland village. The proposed glazed roof would have detrimental impact on the rural appearance of the village. In addition, the parking of high sided vehicles close to the front wall, which often happens, will hinder the escape of exhaust fumes. Tobacco smoke will also be trapped in this area which is designated for smokers.

Planning application 'creep' over recent years has resulted in a serious decline in the character of the village.
