Comments: I am concerned about this change of use in a residential area. Parking for 8 cars seems excessive and if it is a residential home there will no doubt be deliveries made by large vehicles. The street and entrance is narrow and this could cause issues for existing residents. There is no information on the application to state what type of a residential home is planned and this would make a difference to how residents feel about the application. It is a quiet area with not much activity, this would inevitably change if this plan is allowed to progress.
