Comments: Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to object to the proposed large house which was initially deceptively described as a bungalow, but in fact is a substantial 2 storey, 4 bedroomed family home.

This house will completely ruin the outlook from my mum's conservatory and block all the morning light to our house and garden. We moved here for a more peaceful life and due to my serious illness it is really important for me to have privacy, peace and quiet.

I also think it is terrible that my mum and partner are having to reverse their vehicles up and down in order to access their home. The fence has deliberately been put in such a way to partially block the edge of the road (a road for which they have access rights). If all residents are in their driveways, no one can turn around. And there is no proper turning area on the proposed plans, just 4 parking spaces for the owners of the proposed house (two at the top of the lane and two at bottom) I don't see why they shouldn't give up 2 of their parking spaces to make way for turning, after all, the current houses have only 2 parking spaces and if this goes ahead there will be no proper designated space to turn. Why should the existing residents lose their right to safely park and turn their vehicles and a new house come along and have 4 bedrooms and 4 cars and call themselves a "bungalow"? My mum and her partner have had to reverse into the A52 since they put the fence so close to the lane and this is really dangerous. I can't believe this is allowed even, let alone building a massive house here. This has been really stressful for us all, and I can't understand how this is even being considered as it is going to be such a blight on the landscape encroaching on our house and overlooking our home.

I hope that some of the people from the planning department will come out and look at the site as I am sure anyone reasonable would agree that this is not fair on the existing residents.

Regards,

Wade Hubert
