We have had very constructive conversations with Louise. Our only concern is that we own the boundary to the left of our property (it is not a party fence) where the extension is being built and we do not want it undermining by the footings. Also that the boundary is not overhung by the guttering as this would stop us being able to remove the fence panels from the concrete posts for maintenance. We have viewed the plans and it is difficult to tell just how close the wall will be to the boundary.
