I object to this planning application for a grain store on the following grounds.
The grain store is sited too close to the main road in Hollington. With all the land available at Broad Gate Hall, why is the planning for a building not closer to the present farm buildings? I would have thought that it was a security risk to build it so far away from the farm.
There are a few trees, but that is no screen to the road. There are no buildings on that side of Hollington Road & that is to its advantage. It is a popular walking, cycling & horseriding route & the views across to Rugeley are magnificent. It would be a hug blot on the landscape to have a grain store built there.
We most strongly object to this planning application. Peter & Barbara Keeling
