Comments: I have lived in my house for about 15 years and it backs onto a field next to the factory over the past 2 years they keep cutting trees down to the extent that now we can see all of the factory and at night there lights light all of the bedrooms up and you can hear all the lorries banging around because there are less trees. On several occasions I have had to go up and complained about the smell and all they had to say was someone had left a door open.how can you give permission to build on green belt land when it's even closer to all the houses getting rid of wildlife and encouraging rats. We all so get fed up of the lorries getting the wrong turning too and there littering
