Comments: This fence is an absolute eyesore from Marsh Green Road. It wouldn't look so bad if the supporting posts and the later additions of steelwork were on the owners side and not the highway. This fence looks precarious as it is perched on the edge of a steep slope down to the road. I would hope that a structural engineers calculations/report has been carried out and shows this fence and the raised garden behind it proves that this structure is not at risk of slippage down the embankment onto the highway.
