SMD/2016/0811 Variation of condition 17

Once again I have received a notification letter with regard to these application plans. On this occasion it is to comment on variation of condition 17. What exactly does this mean?

Comments and objections to all of these amendments do not seem to make any difference whatsoever to stopping this application being passed. My opinion still remains the same that Tenford Lane cannot withstand the additional amount of traffic from the 40 planned houses.

I have however noted that on the application drawings - Drainage plan minor amendment, levels minor amendment and planting schedules now show the client as Markden Homes and no longer as A R Alcock (although these latest contact letters still show A R Alcock as the applicant). If the applicant is now a building company do I assume that this planning application will be passed despite all of the objections from the people living on Tenford Lane and that these letters inviting us to comment are in fact just a checkbox ticking exercise?
