Comments: I don't believe that this is necessary , there is already a solar farm nearby, there's been considerable development around the local area and solar could have been used on these without addition Greenland being used for this purpose, there is also significant building in the local area for example JCB ,where solar panels could be fitted to the roofs.

Not to mention effect it will have on the habitat for the local wildlife. I do not believe this is going to benefit the local community at all. The effect it would also have on the local farming community due to rural crime likely to increase from organised criminal gangs who will travel considerable distances to target vulnerable areas.
