Enquiry details

Hi, I have been made aware from another neighbour of the above referenced planning application. I understand that this is essentially retrospective planning for a "building" that is already in situ.

I believe that this application is fraudulently being applied for under the use of "live stock shed" when in fact this will be used for business purposes of the self employed owner for stonemason works. The current building is also an eyesore both from our property and from the A50 where it is clearly visible. I would like to understand what the next steps are with this application and be kept up to date as i totally object to the application being approved. I am also concerned about the amount of land being used for business puroposes and weather this land is actually allowed to be used for these purposes and if they are actually registered for business use and paying business rates. There are minerals (i.e. granite, stone etc) that are lay all over the field and look horendous. There is also a vehicle that has been sat in situ for months and is no doubt just being left for scrap or used as some sort of storage. There are plenty of times that the use of a forklift is apparent, taking the stone from the gate hole, where it has been delivered and sits for weeks at a time, to the "live stock shed" to be worked on.
