Submission: Objection

Comments: If this goes ahead it would be a travesty for the wolverines that nest in the brook, we have signs at cichly brook saying Cheadle is the only place in Staffordshire where they live but yet want this to go through when wolverines are highly endangered with literally a handful of places in the country which are mainly down south and you're willing to risk it for a supermarket? It's sickening to be honest with you and very hypocritical to have signs at one end of town but when there is money involved at the other end it's ok and seems justified?
