Hi,

With regards to the above application I have been looking through the public comments and I have huge concerns about the validity of these comments, in my opinion they have been made in collusion and unwarranted

- the second entrance has been made - the second entrance has always been there as they well know and in fact is the only working entrance as the main road entrance has been overgrown and not able to open until very recently when I freed it up.

- The horse box has been lived in - totally not true, the horse box does have a living area as they all do however the area is unsuitable for living in as it stands.

- the van body has been added - again just untrue, the van body has been there for over 10 years as can be seen on google earth maps and the sales details from over two years ago when we purchased the land

It is very disappointing to see the views taken by the people who have commented and suspicious to me that they are saying the same things when I have proof that they are incorrect

Kind regards

Scott Evans
