Comments: I totally support this positive application. As a Senior Manager of Jacksons Nurseries, I see day to day the importance of having someone close by to the business premises, on hand, to react to emergencies, security threats late at night, weather issues that can cause catastrophic damage to plant stock, livestock issues etc, as Roger Jackson, current Managing Director has done for years.

As Roger, due to recent health issues, looks to semi-retire and step back from the business, I feel that the generational transition is for the good of the business to allow it to thrive, whilst continuing to employ a local workforce.

I look forward to continuing to work as part of the Senior Management team with a 3rd generation in Luke Jackson, a fantastic achievement and opportunity for a local family run business for the future.
