Comments: This puts a dire strain on our natural wildlife, and should not be permitted as they are planning to build in an area of special scientific interest. The risks are too great to be outweighed by the benefits and are a destruction of natural resources for farming and nature conservation; it poses great risk to both local wildlife and to the local residents. They have plenty of brownfield areas they can build in, yet they choose to build in a greenbelt space that could have been used for farming and nature conservation? That's both greedy and inconsiderate. DO NOT LET THEM DESTROY AN AREA OF SPECIAL SCIENTIFIC INTEREST, THIS SHOULD BE A GRADE 2 PROTECTED AREA, the area used cannot be returned to the way it was no matter what they say, destroying the scientific area irreparably, and causes unspeakable damage to the local area and residents
