Comments: Smd 0024/0240 is this the true cost of green energy the destruction of the countrys green belt our home has open views over these fields and we sit between this site and wetleymoor common which is a sssi site the barn owls seem on this site nest every year on our property only 4 metres from our boundary with this land which they use to hunt there prey protected owls are mostly nocturnal and light pollution noise and loss of habitat would put them at risk my home would be devalued and our views would be one off flights fencing and battery storage CCTV would be intrusive on our privacy in our own home and would greatly impact our lives we have only just learned of this planning application days before the deadline to respond if I make a planning proposal all my neighbour's are informed giving them the chance to comment this clearly is not the case for such a major planning proposal our green spaces are under threat with the need for more homes and increasing population but more people need more food production from farmland extensions and barns have been turned down by planning how can they allow this on green belt our drinking water comes from a borehole any ground contamination from this site would affect our health the fire risk could destroy our home stoke on trent has many brown fields sites more suitable for solar storage what is the point of protecting wetley moor common if its surrounded by industrial sites animals need this extra land to have a quiet safe place to retreat and food to eat
