Submission: Objection

Comments: I strongly object to this planning application, This building was erected with out proper planning, built in the wrong place and has never been used for its intended use.

There are no animals on this site. It has been used as living accommodation for a time and now the owners no longer live in the area and do not use the building or the ground.

Since the planning was past retrospectively as a livestock shed and this is no longer the case, then this shed should be removed from the site as stated in the planning that was approved.
