Comments: As a young person at 17 years old who has grown up around Staffordshire, I completely object to the project above. Our nature and our farmlands are already becoming less and less with industrialisation and the several projects which have already taken place.

We cannot continue to use our natural environments to undertake industrial projects. There are several other places, such as old broken down factories, or generally already run down industrial projects which would be MUCH better and a lot more sensible to compromise a project like this.

That would mean old industrial spaces are not being left, and our nature is being left alone.
