To whom it may concern

I have received notification of the proposed planning development at my neighbouring property (6 Brook Close).

My initial concerns were that the proposed extension would be in breach of the 45 degree planning regulation as my living room window is 49.53cm from the boundary.

Since viewing the plans online it is clear from the angles shown that this is the case. The plan of my property is incorrect as it shows that the window in question is a dining room window however this is my living room window and so will affect the light coming into my living room.

I would be appreciative if you would consider this.

Kind Regards

Mrs Paula Raden
