Submission: Objection

Comments: We live to the side of the proposed planning appeal , this form of extension has been applied for in the past and been rejected on all occasions . The garage wall already stands on our property , and this wall is only a foot away from a brook that runs between our properties. The brook banking is very narrow in this area and is not suitable for weight bearing structure for building , and would probably cause the banking to collapse into the brook bringing down any structure into the brook. I believe this planning appeal should be rejected for all the items I have listed above, as have all the previous planning appeals been rejected.
