Comments: This is being built on productive agricultural land, it would take alot of work to return it to this afterwards and at a great cost that I can 100% guarantee would not be completed by the current owner.

The proposal poses a risk to water supply for humans (local residents' only drinking water is from their bore hole) & to animals on the land.

It poses a direct risk to those living within 100m of it - if there was a fire, due to the very toxic pollutants given off and the fact the fire services would leave it to burn out. This has been a regular occurrence in similar proposals in this country and also abroad and so I think poses a significant risk that cannot be downplayed.

It will harm the wildlife in the area despite 'Biodiversity net gain', due to the 24 hour security lighting which will scare off barn owls and bats as well as other animals.
