I run the local wildlife rescue and spend countless hours rehabilitating injured wildlife so they can be released back into the wild. Every year, the BTO (British Trust for Ornithology) visits, and we openly discuss the increasing number of bird species in decline. Destroying their natural habitat certainly does nothing to help this situation.

Moreover, this development threatens other protected species. I have it on good authority that both newts and dormice are present on this site. Allowing this project to go ahead would be nothing short of the destruction of our unspoiled environment and countryside. It is a criminal act to even consider such a monstrous development, which would devastate our local environment.

None of the local residents support this plan, and our voices must be heard. Every single person I've spoken to is strongly opposed to this level of destruction in the Staffordshire Moorlands. With this proposal, there are now three potential developments threatening nearly 900 acres of beautiful countryside—land that would be lost forever.

The potential health risks to both the public and wildlife remain unknown and deeply concerning.

It's clear that protections for our countryside—such as its designation as greenbelt—are being ignored when money becomes a factor. The family that stands to benefit the most from this project is already extremely wealthy and seems to have no regard for the community that would be left to suffer the consequences.

This must be stopped. It should not be allowed—now or ever. Greenbelt land and the species that depend on it can never be replaced. The local people who are totally against this barbaric development will unite against your plan; we do not wish for our Staffordshire moorlands to be destroyed by your destruction and development.
