Comments: I live locally. I moved from a town to my village with more accessible countryside & one reason was so that I could walk from my home to nearby open space countryside with beautiful views. When I moved there was already an electrical sub station nearby which is enough in a small area without additional but different type of 'power' plant. I understand there is a risk of fire with this proposed development so I worry that this development shouldn't be near a substation with lots of electricity pylons. I'm concerned this development will cause increased transport on local roads & the development itself causing air & noise pollution. Most of the time you can only hear birds there & absolutely nothing else & the air is fresh to breathe which will change dramatically if this goes ahead. It will be detrimental & even disastrous impact on the natural environment & habitats. It will destroy a charming landscape which many local people love to enjoy.
