Comments: This is getting absolutely ridiculous now! The accumulative effect of these applications is going to ruin the local area, where we call home. They cause noise pollution, are dangerous and will destroy natural habitats for wildlife. I find it really hard to believe that putting batteries on green fields is even being considered. How on earth is that green?! We should be protecting nature and not destroying it. This site is far too close to residential properties and I am presuming that the petrol station will close as a result of this. Please stop causing undue stress to local residents - it really is taking on toll on people's lives now.
