Comments: As a close neighbour, diagonally situated to the rear of the above named property, I have an uninterrupted view the 3.17 meter fence erected without planning permission. It would appear that 'Compassion' is a misnomer for the establishment that serves their clients needs. Given that, as is reported, care is being provided on this site for vulnerable adults requiring such enhanced security I would question the CQC assessment of the current placements within such a residential area and if indeed their needs are being fully met. The unfenced frontage to the property is situated on the extremely busy A 521 which also serves as a re-route for the A50 when closed. To the rear of the property Draycott Old Road is used by heavy farm vehicles, College traffic, local residents and increasingly as a rat run linking Draycott with Forsbrook. Not conducive to a calm, caring, secure and compassionate environment. On a separate issue the high intensity outside lights of Compassionate House illuminate all of our properties most of the night. It would be good to know the official designation and licenced registration of Compassionate House.
