Comments: The alteration of the previously approved plans to now include an additional window in the Side Elevation seems to have no other purpose than to provide the applicant with a view over the neighbouring property's garden and across to the countryside beyond. The placing of this additional window towards the rear of the Side elevation would also give rise to this purpose.

The rear elevation shows Bifold Doors and the front elevation shows windows both of which should provide adequate natural light for the extension, again negating the need for an additional window

The drawings submitted do not show that the ground level of the plot that Carfield stands on is elevated well above the ground level of the plot that the neighbouring property, Laureston, stands on. This means that the proposed additional window gives a clear view into and over the limited garden area of Laureston, causing a major intrusion on privacy to the residents of Laureston whilst using the garden.

I hope these points are considered prior to a decision
