Comments: Complete eyesore for the new estate, not even close in terms of looking like it would fit in with the rest of the houses. No consideration for the houses in the immediate surrounding area as it completely overlooks gardens, into living spaces and into first floor rooms when their house is lower than the already erected building. Is already above the fence height of his surrounding property. Unnecessary to have it at the top of his garden knowing full well it will be above the permitted allowance. Knowing it's already been built prior to application just shows the sheer arrogance towards neighbours and decision making.
