Submission: Support
Comments: I strongly support this application.

The applicant is breeding Berkshire and Saddleback pigs which are considered a rare, "at-risk" breed in the UK, as classified by the Rare Breeds Survival Trust (RBST) as vulnerable. The applicant is conserving these breeds which should be supported.

The applicant's field is near us. Our community has been hit hard by industrial development and it is wonderful to see the pigs in the field knowing that the land is being used as it should be. There are many large agricultural buildings standing unused in the locality whereas this building is imperative to the survival of the pigs.

Breeding pigs is difficult and this building is needed to protect them especially when they have just been born and are particularly vulnerable to the elements. Without this shelter they simply wouldn't survive and the applicant would be unable to continue.

I would therefore like to give my support and ask that the application is given permission.
