Comments: RJB Physiotherapy is an integral service in our area. The village that I live has a high population of elderly people, who benefit from this service and also to those in the surrounding area. Due to the pressure upon the NHS services a private practice is extremely important for recovery from chronic conditions to spontaneous ones that require less visits. Currently the practice is on an upstairs facility and I feel that the new proposed building which has a ground floor access as well as upstairs facilities would make it a more inclusive environment for many more community members. Currently the services are physiotherapy only, so to have the opportunity to use a gym under supervision of a physiotherapist to enable a quicker and healthier outcome would be an advantage to those who wish to get better and stay better. The building has been used for many years as a business so do not feel that the change of use would be of any detriment to the area.
