Comments: As a resident of Endon and a current patient of RJB Physiotherapy I am making comments in support of the planning application. RJB's current premises do not allow the opportunity to expand and improve their services and having to climb a flight of stairs is difficult for patients with mobility problems. The proposed extension to the new site will enhance the services on offer with a purpose built gym as well as two ground floor treatment rooms to improve accessibility for patients with mobility problems. The new rehabilitation facility will be a significant asset to the local community allowing an expansion to current patient services supporting the health and well being of residents in Endon and the surrounding area. The extension to the rear has been carefully designed to be subservient to the original structure. I strongly believe that the clear and substantial public health and community benefits of the proposal significantly outweighs any perceived conservation concerns, particularly given the nature of the design. I for one would greatly benefit from the enhanced facilities that are proposed. I support this application.
