Comments: My Wife & myself like to walk around the beautiful Staffordshire Moorlands & I believe the last thing that the area needs is a housing estate creating a disgusting blot on the landscape.

The fact that it is a very isolated development means that there are no amenities within walking distance & residents would have to drive and join onto an already busy road.

And what about the added strain on public resources in the area such as Schools, drainage, sewerage systems, Hospitals, & the already mentioned road systems.

There are a number of holiday campsites in the area & I believe that a housing estate may affect their business & tranquility.

There would also be a severe impact on the surrounding wildlife in the area.
