Comments: I Adam Heath fully support the application to build up to 55 homes off Breach Road in Brown Edge. I disagree that the building of these dwellings will materially affect the road safety of brown edge, specifically breach road and clay lake. As a country we desperately need to build more affordable homes and in this case ensure Brown Edge continues to attract new families to live in this locality. 55 homes are by no means excessive when extrapolated to the total area of Brown Edge. The loss of green space is of course the most negative aspect of this development. However I believe as part of the development some green space has been retained. It is easily forgotten and dismissed that since Brown Edge became a village it has expanded exponentially. Housing that once bordered fields are now small estates. It is quite normal to expect some expansion for new generations of residents whose children are aspiring to own their own homes to remain in the village they were born. We are a nation with a declining birth rate. Our schools are struggling to fill what were once over crowded classrooms. 55 homes is a drop in the ocean when you factor in the amount of new homes built within even the last 20 years in brown edge. I therefore hope that not only the objection letters are accounted for but the views of the many brown edge residents that actually support progress and the continued vitality of what is truly an amazing place to live.
